CELEBRATING CHILDHOOD

Happy childhood memories are the finest legacy we can leave for our children. Every small smile fills us with infinite delight. Our TIPS tiny tots enjoy the school environment, getting to know their teachers, playing with their peers, and having fun playing in groups. This play-based learning style allows children to express their understanding creatively.

We are thrilled to see our little one being moulded into a beautiful human.

We are quite content with the approach followed in the knowledge transfer that happens day in and day out. We appreciate that teaching goes beyond the curriculum, and learning is happening through the co-curricular activities as well. The efforts put in by the teachers are well received by the students. The methodical work is quite clear from the worksheets that are sent regularly. They are meticulously planned to sustain the Interests of the children.

We would like to furthermore appreciate the administration and the management for their untiring efforts.

We wish success to all the little ones and the hands that sculpt them.
